A player who initiates contact against a defenseless player is responsible for making legal contact. When in question, a player is defenseless. Examples of a defenseless player include: 1 point

- A receiver attempting to catch a pass
- The intended receiver of a pass in the action during and immediately following an interception or potential interception
- A kick returner attempting to catch or recover a kick, or one who has completed the catch or recovery and has not had time to protect himself
- A player obviously out of the play or not in the immediate vicinity of the runner
- A player who receives a blindside block with forcible contact not initiated with open hands
- All the above

Defenseless player provisions do not apply to a passer until a legal forward pass is thrown. The passer continues to be a defenseless player until the pass ends or he moves to participate in the play. 1 point
